FOREWORD

The Alberta Social Resources Inventory is a computerized system providing a coordinated approach to the collection and dissemination of printed information on human services on a province-wide basis in Alberta.

This directory is designed as a helpful guide to the social services organizations in southern Alberta for use by community professionals, counsellors, physicians, librarians, nurses, clergy, social planners, teachers and many others should find this a handy reference to be used frequently.

New information on services is added to the Inventory's system on a continual basis. The information in this directory has been collected recently through a mail and telephone survey of the organizations listed.

Inevitably, there will be omissions. Please help us make the directory more useful by identifying any errors or omissions on the convenient Feedback form at the end of the directory. Ideas regarding format are also welcome. The inclusion of any organization in this directory does not necessarily constitute endorsement of the purpose, method, or the quality of its work.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

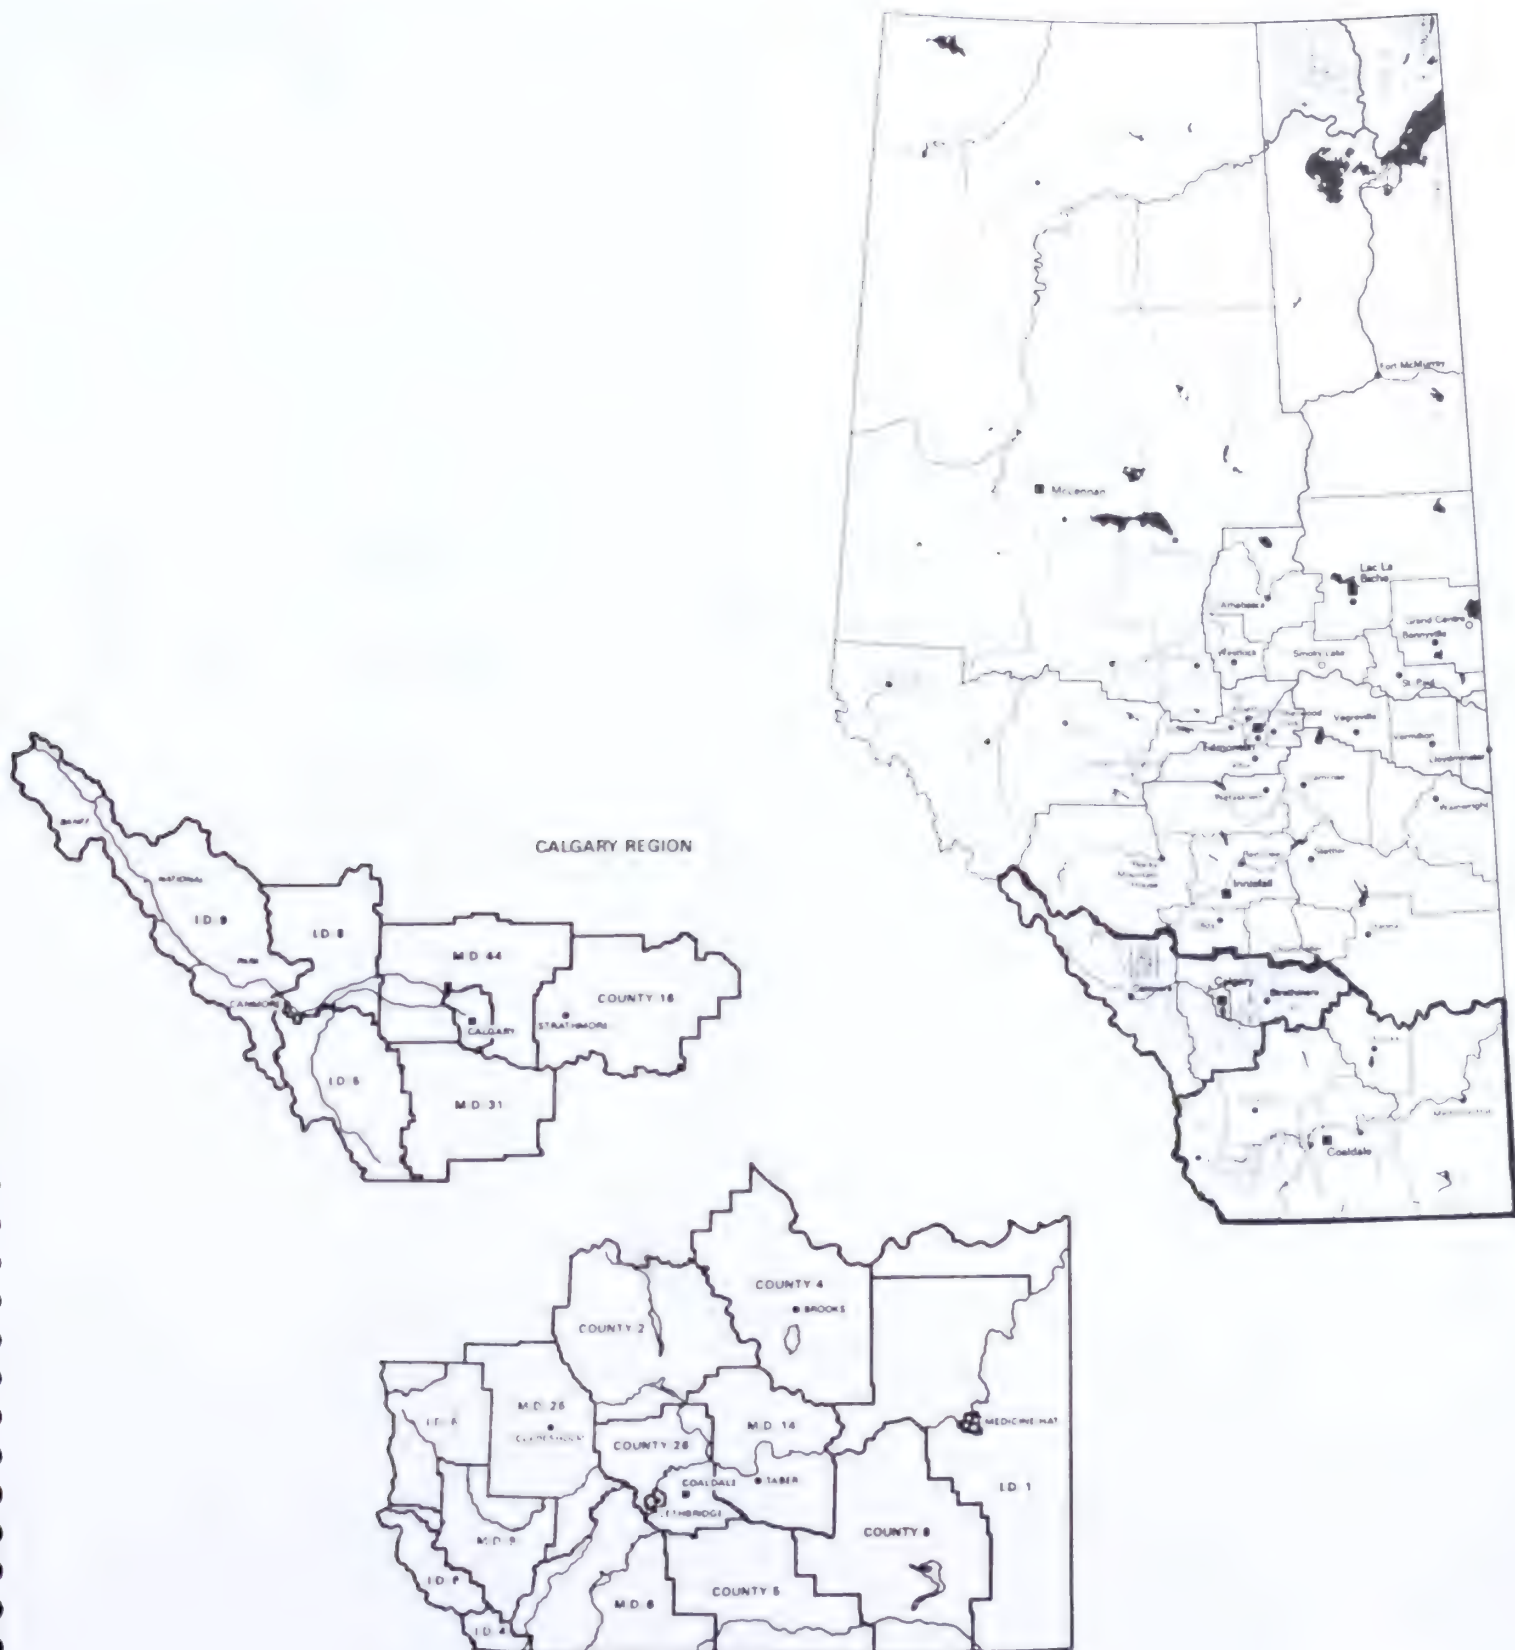

The Alberta Social Resources Inventory extends sincere appreciation to the following individuals and groups for their cooperation and support in the preparation of the Social Resources Inventory, South/Calgary Regions 1987. Janet Arndt, and Ralph Young, SPIRES Consultants, Computing Services, the University of Alberta, for their assistance with the systems problems that have been encountered as well as the organizations listed in the directory for sharing, so generously, information on their programs.

Our local contacts in the South/Calgary Regions who assist us by identifying human service organizations in their respective areas, and who provide information and referral services to serve their areas: Helen Nimco in Banff, Nancy MacEachern in Banff, Dales Judd in Canmore, Mary West in High River, Andi Bartnek in Airdrie, Linda De Veau in Strathmore, Les Krawec in Standard, Morgan Heninger in Coaldale, Ray Ewanson in Taber, Beth Terriff in Crowsnest Pass, John Usselman in Blairmore, Christine Burwash in Lethbridge, Sharon Kalinka in Medicine Hat, Terry Wilson in Brooks, Connie Noble in Pincher Creek and Art Vanden Berg in Claresholm.

Last but not least a special note of thanks goes to Catherine Frank for her invaluable efforts in putting together the 1987 Edition of the South/Calgary Regions Directory.

ARRANGEMENT OF DIRECTORY

The format of the Social Resources Inventory publications has been greatly revised to provide users with an easier-to-use reference to programs and services through the addition of cross-references and a system of entry numbers.

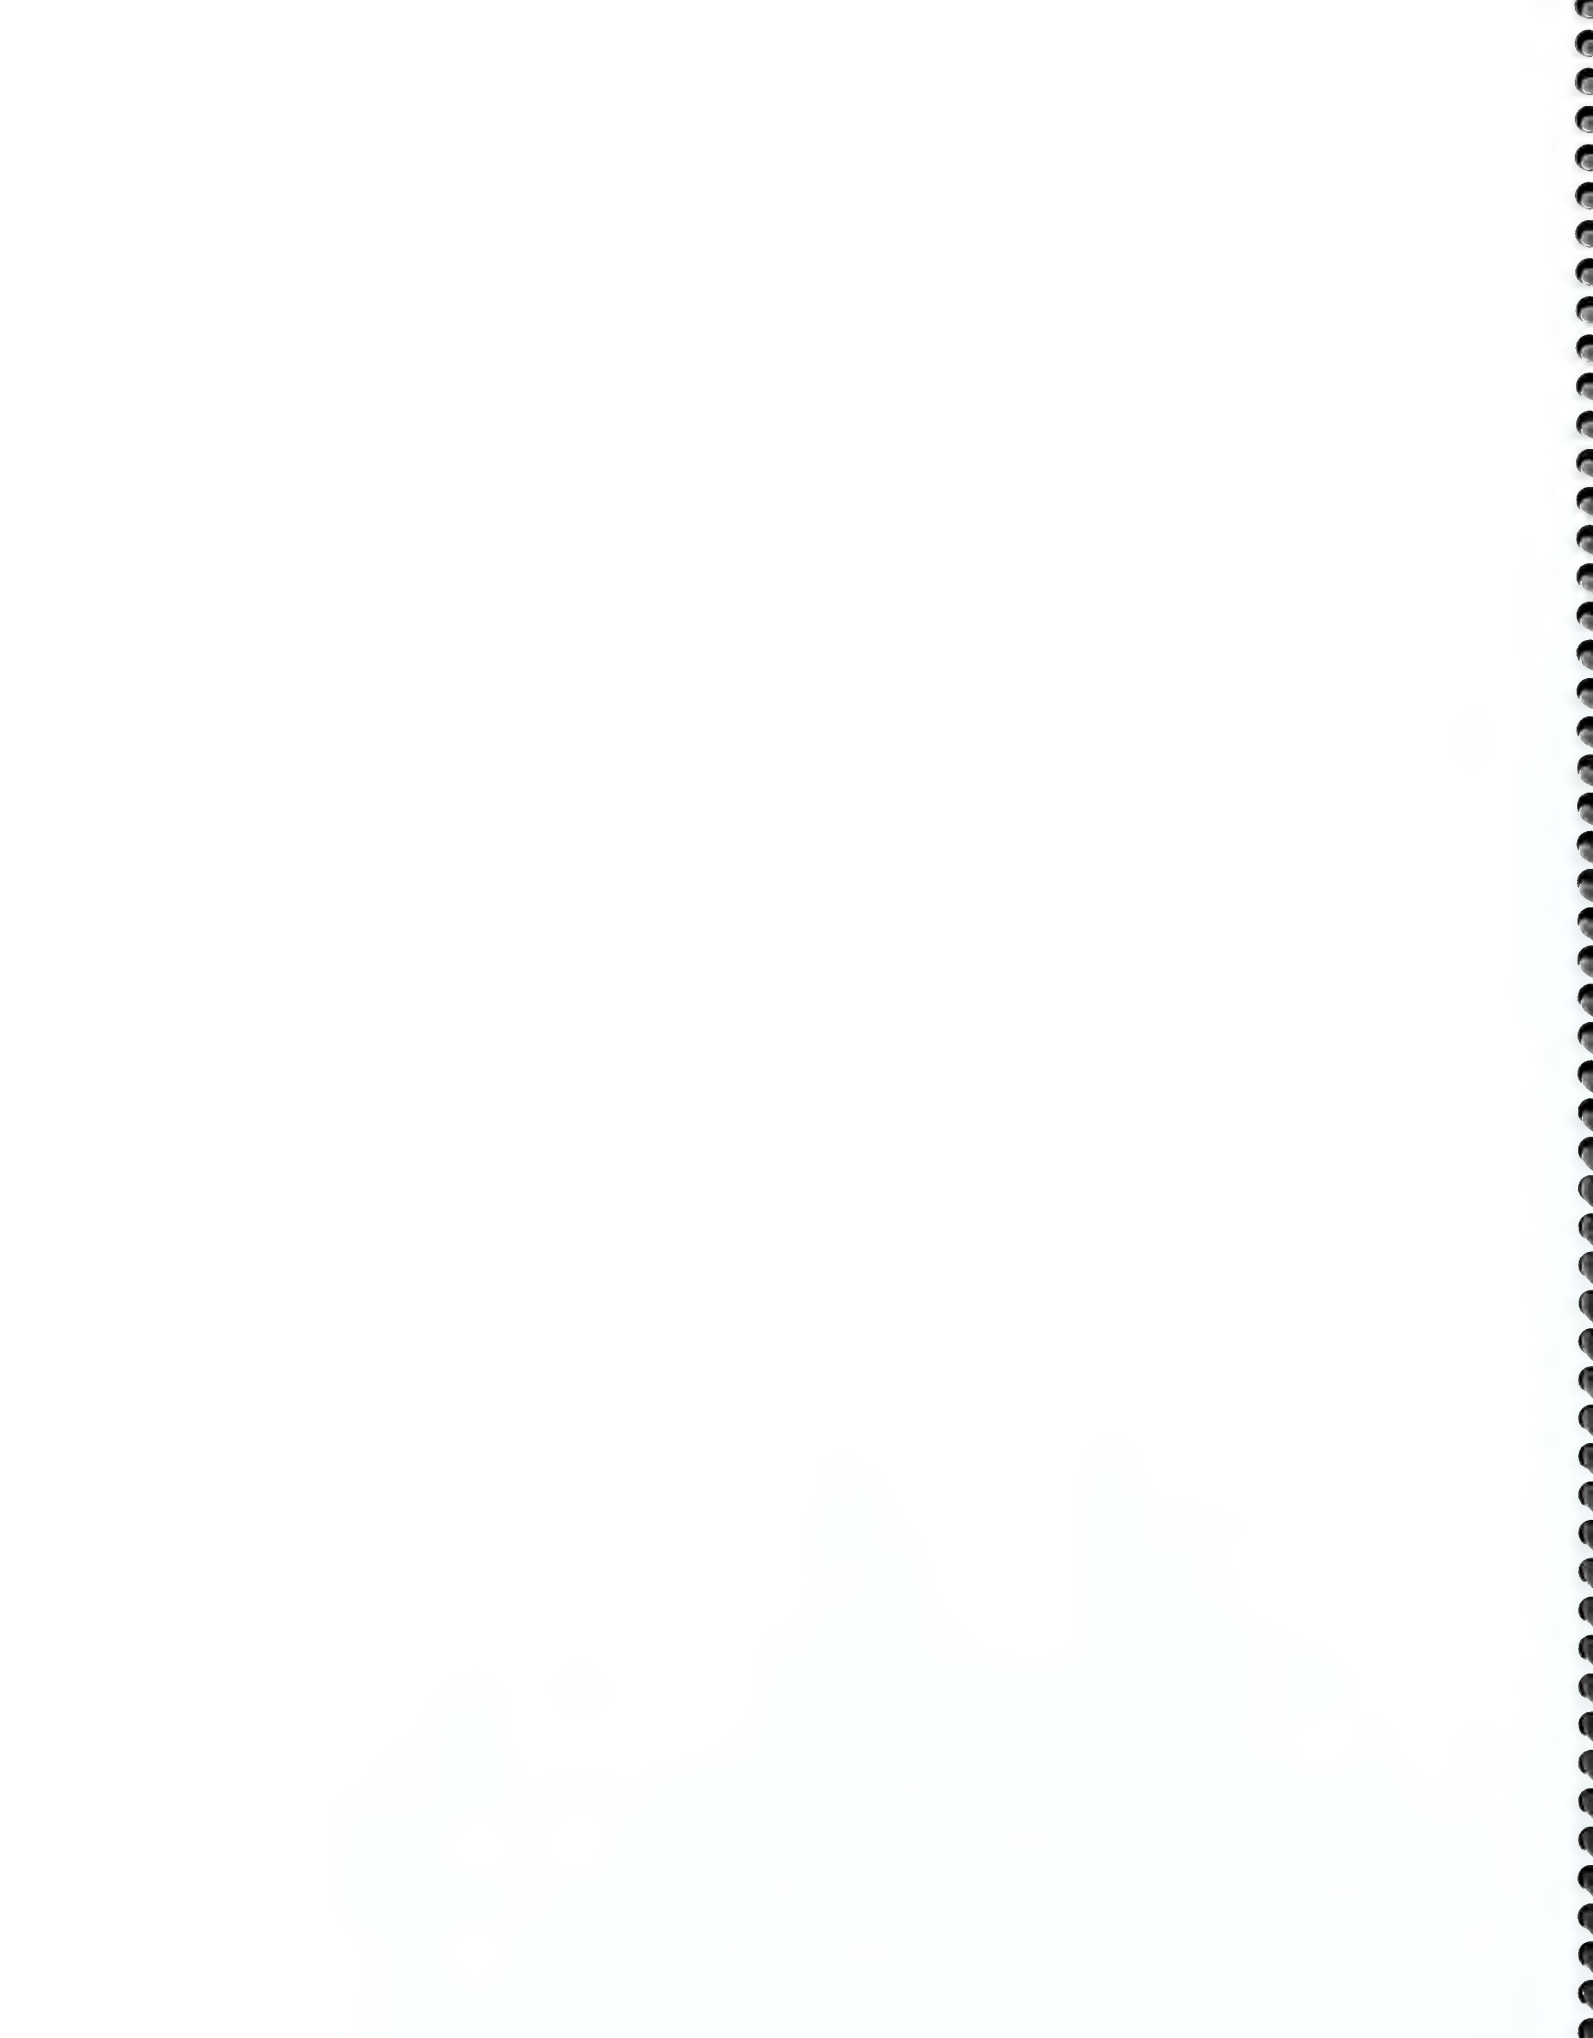

The information in this directory is divided into three sections:

1. AGENCY PROFILES (White) The descriptions of agencies appear alphabetically by geographical area. In most cases, the entry gives the formal name of the organization, address, telephone number(s), the person(s) in charge, hours, area served, purpose and services provided. It may also indicate the sponsoring organization, mailing address, fees, clientele served, access to service, sources of referral, documents required, branch information, and itinerant services. The date that the information was updated appears on the last line of each organization's description. By checking this date, the currency of information can be verified. The description reflects what each organization has submitted with some editing for the sake of consistency. Common-names of agencies appear with appropriate SEE references to the entry numbers and formal names of the agencies. A local organization has been identified in each section as a resource for further information.

2. ALPHABETICAL INDEX (Pink) The names of organizations appear alphabetically by geographical area along with entry numbers, and phone numbers.

3. SUBJECT INDEX (Grey) The subjects are listed alphabetically. SEE references direct the user to the major category in the index where the item will appear as a sub-category along with a complete list of agencies providing the service, their locations and entry numbers. As there is frequently a relationship with other types of services, SEE ALSO references are listed to direct the user to these services.

Services:

Probation

- places offenders under a period of Community Supervision subject to the terms and conditions of a Probation Officer.

Fine Option Program

- provides individuals with the option of performing community service work in lieu of paying court-levied fines. Participants work off their fines at various social service/community agencies and are credited, through a voucher system, at a rate of $5.00 per hour for completed work

Community Work Service Program

- provides low-risk offenders with an opportunity to prove themselves in a community setting by performing community service work. The agencies chosen for placement are of a non-profit, social service or volunteer nature and the work assigned the offender must not take away or replace paid employment. The participants are required to complete the court-imposed number of hours and they are supervised by both placement agency personnel and by a Probation Officer. Community Work Service is performed as a condition of a Probation Order.

Temporary Absence Program

- allows for a minimum security inmate who has served 1/6 to 1/3 of his/her sentence and is deemed to be suitable to be released on a Temporary Absence Permit. A Probation Officer completes a community investigation to determine the viability of the inmate's release plans. If released, the inmate's behavior is subject to certain conditions and restrictions and he is supervised in the community by a Probation Officer until the expiration of his prison term

Volunteer Program

- serves to involve members of the community in partnership with professionals carrying out the responsibilities of the correctional process. By participating as Volunteer Probation Officers, private citizens develop a realistic awareness of the Criminal Justice System. Volunteers are recruited, screened trained and supervised by local Correctional Service personnel.

School Program

- makes its staff and Volunteers available to local high schools to give presentations to students with respect to the Corrections component of the Criminal Justice System.

Young Offenders Tour Program

- offers selected young offenders between the ages of 14 to 21 years an in-depth tour of an adult correctional facility, the purpose being to deter these young offenders from future breaches of the law.
